The Spring of 1945

As this is written we at Maryville College, like all who read this, are watching the battle lines moving toward the centers of Germany and Austria and are trying to believe the predictions that V-E Day will come soon. Perhaps it will have come when this is received. We are searching our maps of the far Pacific for the locations of new American amphibious landings. We are attempting to coordinate in our thinking the many and varied reports from Washington and London and Moscow concerning the conduct of the war, the rehabilitation of liberated countries, the Yalta and San Francisco conferences. Never before have the daily events of the world been so much a part of every household and every person's thoughts and emotions. Think of the impact of the broadcasts and publications upon all of us! We live amid constant reports and discussions. And almost every family circle is represented in the military services. Amid all of these things the programs of institutions like Maryville College are conducted.

On the Campus

The Maryville program is going forward steadily and on the whole constructively. Certainly it has been quieter than when aviation students were marching in and out of buildings and across the campus. Many of our students miss the activity and excitement of the Army's presence and miss too the larger number of men students of the usual years. But there are interesting activities and what is more important there is a good opportunity for study and instruction. In spite of some understandable "war nerves" it is a good year.

The President's Report

It is my understanding that there will be mailed with each copy of this issue of the Alumni Magazine a copy of a brief summary of my report to the Directors last November entitled The 125th Year at Maryville College. It contains some data, analyses, and suggestions in more detail than can be given here. The total enrolment for the year has been increased slightly by the twenty-two new students who entered at the second semester. The total for the year is 458 (397 women, 61 men). In the judgment of most college executives there is no solid basis for expecting any great increase in enrolment of men by next fall even though the war in Europe is over by that time. But we shall try to be prepared for whatever situation develops.

S.S. Maryville Victory

Very prominent in this issue is the report of the launching of a Victory ship named for Maryville College by the U. S. Maritime Commission. The Victory ships are comparatively modest vessels but they will serve both the needs of war and the work of peace. This is the sort of thing which does not occur very often and should be of general interest to Maryville alumni. At the request of the Editor I have written a summary of the facts on another page.

Our Gold Stars

Elsewhere in this Magazine is a report of the recent dedication of Gold Stars on our Service Flags. We are made sad by the deaths these represent. At the same time we may thank God that so far the proportion of Maryville men lost in this war is smaller than that in World War I. At Armistice Day, 1918, after a year and a half of war, there were 658 stars on the Maryville College Service Flags, of which twenty-one, or one in every thirty-one were gold; at the present time after three and a half years of World War II, there are 1,057 stars on our Flags, of which twenty-one, or one in every fifty, are gold.

Deaths of Miss Caldwell, Dr. Stevenson, and Miss Wine

Another of Maryville's true builders is gone from among us. "Miss Molly" Caldwell, for thirty-seven years an important officer at the College, died January 17 at the age of eighty-one. She had retired from active service in 1936. It is appropriate that she is buried in the College Cemetery.

Dr. William Patton Stevenson's service as College Pastor from 1917 to 1940 was unique and notable. He gave it magnificently and without salary. His health and vitality were remarkable until after Mrs. Stevenson's death in 1939. He became ill two years before his death, which came peacefully on November 4, 1944. He is buried beside Mrs. Stevenson in our College Cemetery which he helped to endow.

Some of the services rendered by Miss Caldwell and Dr. Stevenson are outlined in the addresses given by the writer at their funeral services in Maryville and published in this issue of the Alumni Magazine.

Miss Alice Wine, Head of Memorial Hall since 1937, was not able to return to her duties last fall, having undergone a serious operation in the summer. She did not recover and died at her home in Denver, Colorado, on February 11. This is a real loss to the College for she was an effective and loyal officer in our personnel program.

"What Curriculum for This Kind of College?"

Last fall we divided the faculty into study groups and asked them to work through to some recommendations on the subject at the head of this paragraph. Some valuable progress has been made and a report should be ready by the close of the college year. The 1945 Catalog is now on the press and therefore does not attempt to reflect the results of this study. The Catalog does carry a page outlining opportunities at Maryville for returning veterans but that is a more immediate and temporary program than that with which this Faculty Study is dealing.

Cordially yours,

The Victory Ships being built by Calship for the United States Maritime Commission are named by the Commission for the Universities and Colleges in the United States.

The Victory Ship being launched today honors Maryville College at Maryville, Tennessee. Like all Victory Ships, it has a 10,500 D.W. tonnage and speed suitable for both war and peacetime service. Keel laid December 28, 1944.

Calship

Second largest emergency shipyard in America, with 14 ways and 10 outfitting docks, California Shipbuilding Corporation has delivered to the U. S. Maritime Commission 306 Liberty Ships, 30 Liberty-type Tankers, 30 Attack Transports and 44 Victory Ships. Seven more Victory Ships have been launched. Today's ship is the 418th to be launched at this yard, an average of one every 72 hours since September 27, 1941. There will be 59 additional ships to be built under present contracts.

MATRON OF HONOR—Mrs. Ray Copeland of San Marino.

THE MARYVILLE COLLEGE VICTORY SHIP

In January President Lloyd of the College received a letter from the United States Maritime Commission, Washington, which read in part as follows: "It is a pleasure to advise you that the Maritime Commission is naming one of the new Victory ships in honor of Maryville College. This vessel is one of a series going into service during 1945, which will be named after American colleges and universities. The S. S. MARYVILLE VICTORY is under construction by the California Shipbuilding Corporation, Wilmington, California."

The launching was set for 9:00 p. m. February 22 and the College was invited to be represented. Obviously it was not practicable for anyone at Maryville to make the long journey necessary to be present. President Lloyd therefore appointed as his representative Lamar S. Wilson, '21, of Los Angeles, youngest son of the late President Emeritus Samuel Tyndale Wilson, and the names of Maryville alumni known to be in southern California were given to the California Shipbuilding Corporation to receive invitations. The picture above shows those who were present.

The inside pages of the program of the launching ceremony are reproduced on these pages, and the remarks made by Lamar Wilson are printed following this sketch. The Sponsor who christened the ship was Mrs. Arch Anderson, wife of the Chairman of the Board of Directors of the California Bank, and the Matron of Honor was her daughter, Mrs. Ray Copeland. Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Copeland were selected by the Corporation and are not related to Maryville College except through this friendly service.

The S. S. MARYVILLE VICTORY is one of the Maritime Commission's new wartime and postwar cargo Victory ships, of which the first were launched in February and March 1944. It is a three-deck vessel 455 feet long with a beam of 62 feet; its deadweight tonnage is 10,800 and its cargo tonnage capacity 9,146; it is driven by 6,000 horsepower steam turbine-gear engines with over twice the horsepower of the Liberty ship, and has a speed of 15 knots.

The S. S. MARYVILLE VICTORY has been assigned to the McCormick Steamship Division of Pope and Talbot, Inc., San Francisco, for operation. Maryville College has furnished the ship's library of about 130 volumes for use of the crew. This was done through the American Merchant Marine Library Association at a cost to the College of $350. The name of the College as donor of the library is being placed

Included in the library is a copy of Dr. Wilson's history of the College, A Century of Maryville College and Second Century Beginnings, copies of the Alumni Magazine, the Catalog and other bulletins. Also a framed airview picture of the Maryville campus has been hung on board ship.

If there are alumni who would like to underwrite the cost of this memorial library on the ship, it will be a useful service to the men who sail and to the College who promised the money. Please send contributions to the Alumni office marked "Ship Library."

REMARKS

By Lamar S. Wilson, '21

Due to transportation conditions and the press of his duties, President Ralph Waldo Lloyd of Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee, sends his regrets that he cannot be here to attend these launching ceremonies.

He has requested me to represent him here tonight and also to speak in behalf of the Alumni and students of the College in honor of which this ship is named.

It was in the fall of 1819 that Maryville College was first launched forth on the sea of knowledge, so to speak, by Dr. Isaac Anderson in East Tennessee which was at that time generally considered as being located in the "Great Southwest." It is therefore fitting and appropriate that we here 126 years later launch this S. S. MARYVILLE VICTORY again in the "Great Southwest," only this time somewhat farther west.

If this ship which is being launched tonight serves her country in keeping with the traditional record of achievements chronicled by the institution for which she has been named, then she will have gone a long way towards the attainment of the final victory, which her name also symbolizes.

Therefore, in behalf of President Ralph Waldo Lloyd, the sixth president of Maryville College, and also in behalf of the faculty, alumni, former and present students, I wish to thank the Maritime Commission and the California Shipbuilding Corporation for naming this great ship the S. S. MARYVILLE VICTORY in honor of a great educational institution.

MARY ELLEN CALDWELL

Address by President Ralph Waldo Lloyd
At the Funeral Service on January 20, 1945
In the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel

Romans 16:6—Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on you.

Mary Ellen Caldwell was born in Bonham, Texas, September 11, 1863, and died at her home on Miller Street in Maryville, Tennessee, on last Wednesday evening, January 17, 1945, at the age of 81 years, 4 months, and 6 days. Word of her going reached me in Cleveland, Ohio, over the telephone later that night. As I sat in my hotel room afterward I realized that three great emeritus officials of Maryville College—Dr. Wilson, Dr. Stevenson, and Miss Caldwell—had gone within the past six months to receive their eternal rewards. All had passed the age of four score years. All had been connected with the College more than a quarter of a century, two of them much more. I breathed a prayer of thanksgiving for them and of petition that God would somehow enable us who have taken up their work to build faithfully on their foundations.

I opened my New Testament at the Epistle to the Romans and read in the twelfth chapter, "I beseech you, therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, to present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable to God, which is your spiritual service." I read on into the thirteenth chapter, "Let every soul be in subjection to the higher powers: for there is no power but of God." And in the fourteenth chapter, "For whether we live, we live unto the Lord; or whether we die, we die unto the Lord: whether we live therefore, or die, we are the Lord's." I read in the fifteenth chapter that "we that are strong ought to bear the infirmities of the weak" and Paul's prayer that "the God of hope fill you with all joy and peace in believing." All of those Scriptures seemed good to read as I thought of Miss Molly's life and work. Then I read on into the sixteenth, which is the last chapter of Romans. It contains a long list of names of Paul's friends to whom he wished to send greetings. "Salute Prisca and Aquila, my fellowworkers in Christ Jesus," he said. And in the midst of the salutations, in the sixth verse, he continued, "Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on you."

Of course Paul was not speaking of Mary Ellen Caldwell or of any other person in the twentieth century. He was speaking of someone named Mary who in the first century had rendered some large but undescribed service to those who would read that sixteenth chapter. But was he not saying something which ought to be said in every generation, "Salute (honor, express appreciation to and for) every person who blesses others with their services." And even if the name used were one altogether different, everyone who knew her would recognize how appropriately the words might be read in a commemoration to Mary Ellen Caldwell. "Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on you."

I

We think, first of all, how the labor she bestowed upon the College and a multitude of persons extended over an extraordinary length of time.

First, she was a student. Attending somewhat irregularly during a period of ten years, from 1881 to 1891, she took both her preparatory and college courses at Maryville College, receiving the B. A. degree in 1891. Her's was the sixteenth class in which women were accepted as candidates for the degree. She was one of the first twenty-three women to receive the degree from Maryville College, which in turn was the first college in Tennessee to confer degrees on women at all. In 1941 she celebrated her fiftieth anniversary of graduation. There were fourteen in the Class of 1891; six were living in 1941; Miss Molly's death leaves only two of them now living.

Although born in Texas during the Civil War she had been brought by her parents to this community, and entered the Preparatory Department of Maryville College in 1882, only twelve years after Anderson, Baldwin, and Memorial had been built on this campus. Her father, William L. Caldwell, was a native of Blount County, had attended Maryville College before the Civil War, and had become a teacher. After his marriage to Mary Ann Huffaker of Knox County, they went by wagon to Texas where they remained a number of years and where four of their nine children were born. Mary Ellen was the third. Soon after the Civil War the family returned to Maryville and made their home here. As the years passed all nine of the sons and daughters became students in Maryville College. Two of them, Mary Ellen Caldwell and Mrs. Emma Lee Worley, became members of the Faculty, Mrs. Worley serving as head of one of the dormitories for sixteen years. Another sister, Nannie, was married to Judge Moses H. Gamble, who served on the Faculty five years and on the Board of Directors twenty-four years, and one of whose sons is now a Director. Others of the family have served on the Faculty and in other ways and many have been students in the College.

Miss Caldwell is survived by two sisters, Mrs. Worley of Maryville and Mrs. Ollie Foster of Huntsville, Tennessee, and by sixteen nephews and nieces. Mrs. Worley has been her constant companion in her failing years.

Before she received her college degree Miss Caldwell had served one or two years as Principal of the Maryville Public School. After receiving her college degree she became a member of the College Faculty as an Instructor in Latin and Mathematics. Two years later she was asked to take charge of Baldwin Hall and continued there four years. In 1897 she resigned to become Principal of Huntsville Academy, a Presbyterian School at Huntsville, Tennessee, and was there seven years. In 1904 she returned to the Maryville College Faculty to remain until her retirement in 1936. She was Head of Baldwin Hall until 1914 and then Head of Pearsons Hall until 1936. In 1913 she was given also the title of Dean of Women. After she had retired in 1936 she was elected by the Directors Dean of Women Emeritus for life.

Yes, her service was a long one. She was actively engaged in educational work as a teacher or a personnel officer in three institutions for more than forty-five years. She was a student in Maryville College for at least parts of eleven years, was an active member of the Maryville Faculty for thirty-seven years, and was Dean of Women Emeritus for almost nine years. Her thirty-seven years on the Faculty have been exceeded by only five persons in Maryville history. Her total formal connection with the College, as student, faculty member, and Dean Emeritus, was fifty-seven years. That covers almost half the life of the College. All of her years have been years of service. We might well write with Paul, "Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on you."

II

But not only was this a labor extending over an extraordinary length of time for one life, but it was a labor of extraordinary loyalty.

This was an outstanding quality of her life. She was loyal to her family, to her friends, to her students, to herself, to her ideals, to the Church, to the College, to her colleagues, and above all to Christ whom she sought always to serve. There was nothing she wanted for herself. She never sought to advance her own interests or feelings or popularity. At no time in her long career was she found asking for the advantages of money or recognition or protection, the three self-benefits which even good men and women commonly seek. During most of her years here salaries were low and her responsibilities were large. Her particular work involved long hours and tasks often difficult and unpopular. But she never shirked and never shifted unpleasant work or blame to others.

Her lack of self-interest, her unselfishness, and her unwavering loyalty did much to enable her to withstand the nervous strain of years of care and counseling and discipline.

I personally have reason to be grateful for her loyalty. I came to the presidency after she had served over thirty years with Dr. Wilson and other officers. Her loyalty to Dr. Wilson as President was a beautiful one and constituted what he counted a major support of his own arduous labors. I had formerly been but one of the students who called occasionally at her dormitory for one of the girls there. By no measurement could I take the place of Dr. Wilson to her. Yet from the day of my coming to that of her death her loyalty to me was as sincere and unfailing as it had been to Dr. Wilson. She may not have known that I noticed that on her desk she kept a little picture folder. In one side was Dr. Wilson's picture and in the other was mine. She had not kept his alone, as certainly might have been expected; or replaced it with mine because officially I had come to his office; but she merely added the one to the other. Her loyalty was big enough for both.

Let us all write, "Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on" us—a labor of extraordinary loyalty.

III

For a third thing, I would mention how her labor was bestowed on a permanent institution.

She was a loyal member of New Providence Presbyterian Church for fifty-four years, joining there by certificate on September 25, 1891, about the time she joined the Maryville College Faculty. She invested a large service there. She stood loyally by the ministers and the program. Her investments there will continue to bless future generations.

But it was the ministry of Maryville College which claimed her largest effort as teacher, counselor, dormitory head, dean. And one year a quarter of a century ago she took the place of Miss Margaret Henry, who had died, and travelled and spoke as a Field Scholarship Secretary. She built herself into the institution. Her loyalty to its purposes, her willingness to bury herself in its interests, her good judgment and common sense in counsel, her daily labors, and Christian life—all this and more became part of the warp and woof of Maryville's being. A great deal of the College's moral and religious structure is due to Miss Molly's faith and courage, more than she or anyone could know.

She lived and worked and retired from her labor and died. But her work has not died. She put her efforts into an institution which was here before her, which will live long after her earthly life, and will transmit her influence on and on. Since her retirement she has lived in her own home half a block away from the campus where she could hear the college bell and see college people come and go, and today she is being buried in the college cemetery in view of the college buildings in which she lived and worked so long.

We "salute her, who bestowed much labor" on this College and on the Church and on other permanent institutions.

IV

In the fourth place, her service was to individuals.

In most of her years, she lived twenty-four hours a day with young women. She knew thousands of them by name. She loved them and would make any personal sacrifice for them.

By nature she was not effusive. She belonged to those who believe that right is right and wrong is wrong and that obedience is a means to character and strength. She had high standards and asked others to have high standards. She was frank and was unconcerned about her own popularity as she did her work. Not every college girl or boy understood her or was strong enough in self-discipline to discover her warm heart. But most of them did while in college; almost all did as they grew more mature; and all respected her staunch character and recognized her consistent fairness.

There are hosts of Maryville College alumni who thank God for Miss Molly's standards and friendship. That she has been known almost exclusively by the name "Miss Molly" is testimony to the love and respect in which she has been held.

When her eightieth birthday was approaching the fact became known and she was almost overwhelmed by messages and flowers and visitors. And today there came among the messages and flowers an orchid from a group of former college girls who as a group have kept in touch with her by writing and coming back. Today they sent an orchid for her to wear as she goes to her last resting place. It is an expression in which thousands would willingly share.

She has invested her life in other lives—who would salute her, for she has bestowed much labor on them.

There is one last word, a word hardly necessary for it has been implied in all that we have been saying. But let it be set out alone for emphasis. It is this: Her's has been a Christian labor.

She believed in God, the Father Almighty, and in Jesus Christ his only Son, our Lord, and in the Bible, the word of God. She believed the promises and the commandments also. She had accepted Christ as her Saviour and Lord and lived in daily consciousness of his presence. She was one of the best listeners any preacher ever had in this Chapel, something not universally true even in good college faculty folk. She did her work in a constant spirit of prayer. She engaged in education, but to her it must always be Christian education. She had one supreme ideal for Maryville College, that it should be a Christian college. She wanted above all else that Maryville students should be Christian students.

Her going leaves another empty place among us. But it is a triumphal entry for her. By reason of strength her years have been four score. We rejoice in her mighty contribution toward a wholesome Christian world. With the Apostle we say, "Salute Mary, who bestowed much labor on you"—a labor extending over an extraordinary length of time, a labor of extraordinary loyalty, a labor bestowed on a permanent institution, a labor bestowed on individual persons, a Christian labor.

And now she has rested from her labors. Let us enter into them.

SAMUEL TYNDALE WILSON MEMORIAL FOUNDATION

At the end of March there were mailed to all alumni a descriptive leaflet and a pledge card for the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Memorial Foundation Fund which was announced in the October issue of the Alumni Magazine. It is earnestly desired that $25,000 in pledges and gifts from alumni, faculty, and directors be in hand by Commencement, May 21. The total received up to the time this is written (April 5) is $3,584.

This $25,000 is the first quarter of the total Foundation of $100,000 which will be asked during the next few years to endow a Chair of English in memory of Dr. Wilson.

Send your pledge or gift now if you have not done so.

The Gold Star Roll

On the two Service Flags in the Chapel there are still 1,000 stars, although at this date (March 28, 1945) 1,057 former Maryville College students and faculty are known to have entered the armed forces. Additional stars will be added. The flag to your left as you face the platform is filled with 665 stars; the flag to your right is but partially filled with 335 stars. For the past year the flag to the left has had two gold stars and the one to the right three gold stars. We have now changed eight more of the stars on each of the flags from blue to gold. We call the roll of the 21 Maryville College men whom these gold stars represent.

(1) Weldon A. Baird, '39, Kilbourne, Ohio, a student in Maryville College four years, a graduate in the Class of 1939, a Navy Pilot, killed while on patrol duty off the coast of California, April 1, 1942, when his airplane fell at sea. He was the first Maryville man to lose his life in this war.

(2) Frank L. Miller, '14, Washington, D. C., a student in Maryville College four years, a graduate in the Class of 1914, a Presbyterian minister, Colonel in the Chaplains' Corps, first assistant to the Chief of Army Chaplains, killed in an airplane crash in Iceland, May 1943, while on a world tour of inspection.

The first two gold stars placed on the first flag were for these two. The three gold stars first placed on the second flag were for:

(3) F. A. Greene, Jr., Ex. '46, Maryville, Tenn., a student in Maryville College one year, killed in an accident at training camp in this country October 16, 1943.

(4) Herbert I. Turner, Ex. '41, Ocala, Florida, a student at Maryville two years, an Army pilot, killed when his damaged plane crashed in England as he was returning from a bombing raid over Germany, September 1943.

(5) Fleming P. Griffith, Ex. '43, Ravenna, Kentucky, a student in Maryville College three years, a Marine Pilot, lost when his plane went down in the Southwest Pacific, January 1944.

These five are the men for whom the five gold stars have stood this past year. Now I call the names of the sixteen men for whom blue stars have now turned to gold. First the other eight on the full flag to your left.

(6) Harry Everette Driver, Ex. '39, Mulberry, Florida, a student here one semester, an Army Pilot, before his death assigned as Pilot of General MacArthur's plane in Australia, killed November 13, 1942, two and a half years ago now.

(7) Augustin L. Brnson, Ex. '44, Pine City, New York, a student at Maryville one year, one of our first students to enter military service, a Marine machine gunner, overseas two years, killed September 26, 1944, in the Peleliu Island invasion in the Pacific.

(8) Jack Craig Harwood, '41, Cornell, Illinois, a student at Maryville two years after transferring from Blackburn College, Illinois, a Maryville graduate in the Class of 1941, an Army Pilot who took part in the first Flying Fortress raid on Germany, killed over Bremen, Germany, April 17, 1943, on his sixteenth mission.

(9) Robert Dove Downes, '36, Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, a Maryville College student three and a half years and a graduate in the Class of 1936; a Radio Communications officer in the Army Air Forces, stationed at Clark Field near Manila, Philippine Islands, at the time of Pearl Harbor, not heard of again until reported in June 1943 by the War Department as a Japanese prisoner of war; later reported by the War Department as killed when a Japanese freighter carrying American prisoners was tragically sunk by American torpedoes off Mindanao, September 7, 1944.

(10) James Lindsay Robison, Ex. '45, Port Royal, Pennsylvania, at Maryville College a year and a half, killed in action in Germany, November 23, 1944.

(11) Richard K. Orr, '34, Pacific, Missouri, at Maryville College four years and a graduate in the Class of 1934, a Presbyterian minister, a Captain in the Chaplains' Corps, contracted illness while on New Guinea, returned by plane to America where he died December 10, 1944.

(12) Kermit A. Hanna, Ex. '38, Trenton, New Jersey, in Maryville a year and a half, a Sergeant in the Army Medical Corps, killed in action in Belgium December 22, 1944, in the great German drive of that period.

(27) Clifton William Housley, Jr., Washington, D. C., was at Maryville College one year. He was killed in an airplane crash in Puerto Rico, January 1, 1945, as a corporal on a B-29.

DEBATE

The College has during the year maintained a debate squad under the direction of Professor David H. Briggs. Maryville students have participated in a considerable number of debates and other forensic contests both at Maryville and away with gratifying success. The subject being debated this year by colleges in Pi Kappa Delta is "Resolved: That the federal government should enact legislation requiring the settlement of all labor disputes by compulsory arbitration when voluntary means of settlement have failed, constitutionality conceded."

WILLIAM PATTON STEVENSON

Address by Ralph Waldo Lloyd,
President of Maryville College

At the Funeral Service on November 8, 1944,
In the Elizabeth R. Voorhees Chapel,
Maryville College, Maryville, Tennessee

Acts 18:24, 25—An eloquent man (who) spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus.

In the Book of the Acts, the 18th chapter, in the 24th and 25th verses, we read that "Apollos, an Alexandrian by race, an eloquent man, came to Ephesus; and he was mighty in the scriptures. This man had been instructed in the way of the Lord; and being fervent in spirit, he spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus." Apollos was one of the strong characters of the early Church, a man of great eloquence, whose influence as a Christian preacher is evident from more than one account in the New Testament.

The description of him as "an eloquent man . . . (who) spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus" is appropriate also as a description of Dr. William Patton Stevenson in whose memory we hold this service. Dr. Stevenson spoke from this platform regularly twice a week for more than twenty years. His eloquence became a tradition among the thousands of college students who heard him. Often when you meet them they say, "I have never heard anyone who could use words as could he. And at the same time his sermons were practical and he and Mrs. Stevenson were fine people." So say the alumni.

Yes, like Apollos, he was "an eloquent man."

I

His eloquence was in no small measure due to his preparation.

He was born in West Alexander, Pennsylvania, the son of Rev. Josias and Eleanor Patton Stevenson, on December 24, 1860. He grew up in a United Presbyterian manse and entered Jefferson Academy at Canonsburg, Pennsylvania, in 1876 at the age of 16. In 1882, when he was 22, he received the Bachelor of Arts degree from Westminster College, New Wilmington, Pennsylvania, and entered Union Theological Seminary, New York City. After one year there he transferred to Western Theological Seminary, Pittsburgh, and in 1885 graduated with the degree of Bachelor of Divinity. This home background and schooling would be excellent fundamental preparation for the ministry even now, and in those days when institutions of higher learning were attended by comparatively few, his was an unusual preparation.

To this he added frequent and extensive travel. As a young man he spent almost a year riding over the British Isles and Europe on one of the high bicycles of the period, visiting many places and people of interest. And for more than half a century since that time he has continued to travel. His last trip abroad was in 1938 when he and Mrs. Stevenson went around the world. His last long automobile trip in this country was a remarkable one of ten thousand miles to the Pacific Northwest, on which at the age of eighty he drove his own car and travelled alone. I have never known anyone who remembered so much in detail or could describe more eloquently the places and people of his travels, including the travels of a half century ago.

DR. STEVENSON

He read widely and constantly, alike the classics and contemporary books and magazines. The English Bible had a large place in his reading. This continued until his strength failed near the end. He never tired of good books. And they did much toward his unusual mastery of language.

His travels, his reading, his long experience, his human interests made him a conversationalist of rare charm.

Yes, his preparation did much to develop his God-given abilities; he was "an eloquent man . . . (who) spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus."

II

His service to the churches was long and distinguished

On December 15, 1885, he was ordained a minister of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A., although he had been reared in the United Presbyterian Church. At that time he became pastor of the Avalon Presbyterian Church which he had helped to organize, not far from the Seminary where he had graduated in the spring. Two years later he accepted a call to Mauch Chunk in eastern Pennsylvania. In June of that year he was married to Elizabeth M. Cooper of Allegheny, now part of Pittsburgh, by whose earthly remains his body is to be laid today. He was pastor in Mauch Chunk four years; in Titusville, Pennsylvania, seven years; in Park Church, Syracuse, New York, four years; and in First Church, Yonkers, New York, fifteen years. The last three were among the strong churches of their States. From Yonkers he came to Maryville College where he served as College Pastor, preaching regularly in the chapel each Sunday evening and each Wednesday morning for 23 years, a test of preaching capacity which few could meet successfully. During most of his years as College Pastor he served also as supply minister of the Shannondale Presbyterian Church in the northern suburbs of Knoxville, driving there to preach every Sunday morning.

Thus he was an installed pastor in five churches in Pennsylvania and New York, and was a College Pastor and regular supply minister in Tennessee. His active preaching extended to 55 years, and he was an ordained minister of the Gospel for 59 years. He not only served as pastor of six local churches and a college, but also served the Church at large as a member of the Board of Foreign Missions and in other ways. While a pastor in Syracuse he was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity by Syracuse University. While College Pastor he received the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Maryville College. Although he cared little for offices or honors they came to him from time to time. His name appeared in "Who's Who in America" 40 years ago, when the list was smaller than it is now. Dr. Wilson in 1917 wrote from New York to other officers of the college, "Dr. Stevenson in an excellent speaker . . . and is very highly respected in New York."

So today we recall how for more than half a century he was "an eloquent man . . . (who) spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus."

III

The story of his coming to Maryville College is a romantic one.

Or as Dr. Wilson once put it, "The whole story reads like romance. But it is vastly better than romance—it is Providence." I have this week read some of the story in Dr. Wilson's files. First, there is a note that Dr. Wilson called on Dr. Stevenson in New York and presented him a copy of the newly published history of the College. That was on January 4, 1917. There then is a letter in Dr. Stevenson's handwriting dated at Yonkers on Hudson February 15, 1917, which begins thus:

"My dear Dr. Wilson,—Owing to the pressure of many pastoral duties it has been difficult for me to get an opportunity to read your 'Century of Maryville College' you were so kind as to present me. Last week, however, I found an evening I could give to it, and once started on your thrillingly . . . inspiring record of the labors and achievements of dauntless faith, tireless patience, heroic courage, and martyr-like self-sacrifice, I could not lay it down until I had read it through . . . It has gripped and stirred me as nothing of the kind has done for a long time."

That was the beginning. Four months later Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson arrived in Maryville to live, having left the prominent pastorate at Yonkers to enter service here. And to do it in a way no one else has done before or since: without any salary from the College. Not only so but to build through the gift of a personal friend of Mrs. Stevenson the House-in-the-Woods as a Perpetual Memorial in honor of Mr. and Mrs. William Cooper, parents of Mrs. Stevenson and of Mrs. John Walker who now lives at Morningside nearby, to be used as a College Pastor's residence. Also they established a substantial portion of a permanent endowment of a College Pastor's salary.

For 23 years Dr. Stevenson continued his regular service "without money and without price" as the prophet Isaiah put it long ago. Maryville College celebrated its 125th anniversary last month. One of the greatest providential favors in all its history was the coming and serving of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson.

IV

Their contributions to the life of the College and its young people were many and varied

One was their home. For years it was a center of culture and friendliness for students, faculty, and others. Frequently whole classes and other large groups were entertained there. I talked of that when we held a service like this for Mrs. Stevenson five years ago. She gave a very large part of their united service. A letter about them in 1917 says, "He is immensely popular and his wife is as popular and prudent . . . and is the leading Christian lady of Yonkers." He was never the same after she died. Often he would say to me, "I am like a watch whose mainspring is gone." That is one reason that this memorial service today is as nearly as possible a duplicate of that held for her in 1939. The music is the same, the Scripture passages the same, the pallbearers the same, many of the other participants the same. He helped plan her service, and leaving no requests for his own except that he be laid away in his pulpit gown, we are repeating for him the service used for her.

Of course, there was his service as a preacher. In President Wilson's Annual Report in 1921 are these sentences about Dr. Stevenson's weekly preaching in the chapel: "The entire student body has . . . listened to a most remarkable series of addresses each dealing with some phase of student religious life. These addresses, if collected and printed just as delivered, would form a volume of college sermons unexcelled by any ever published."

In 1927, on the tenth anniversary of Dr. and Mrs. Stevenson's coming, the Directors adopted an impressive minute prepared evidently by Dr. Wilson. One sentence is this: "The wisdom, the appropriateness, the common sense, the religious earnestness, and the moving eloquence of Dr. Stevenson have, impossible as it would seem, steadily increased from week to week, until his addresses delivered to our college audiences have seemed to us so finished and so inspiring as to be incomparable."

When the present speaker came to Maryville Dr. Stevenson was seventy and was planning to retire. I urged him to delay that step and he continued to preach here for almost ten years more. As I sat beside him on the platform I never saw him use a note of paper even for the Scripture references until he began to fail. And those who have been here all the years cannot recall his repeating any material. He was indeed "an eloquent man."

It was he who inaugurated the Sunday Vesper and the Wednesday preaching services and who brought into being the Choir. He loved to work in the Woods and the section around his house was kept in attractive order. They were both buoyant personalities and kept their youth long. A feature newspaper article when he was 77 called him the only man in Tennessee who could play the golf course in his age. About a dozen years ago they flew to San Francisco, remained overnight, and flew back, saying they had never seen America from the air and wished to do so. He contributed generously to various funds. One was the endowment of the College Cemetery where we are now to take him.

His last direct message to me was written by his son who said, "He (Father) also told me to say that he is 'slipping in everything but his affection for you, the College, and his kind Maryville friends'."

The last sermon which he preached was at the Shannondale Church. He entitled it "A Sermon to Old People." In it he described the difficulty of ending life well, the beauty of old age when it is lived well, and the radiant hope of heaven which increases with the years. "There are ten thousand things I want to see" about the future life, he said. "There are a million things I want explained; things about myself, about you, about God, about the course of human history, about the government of the world . . . I wonder how it looks over there . . . I think the time will come when I shall be quite willing to die in order to find out about these things . . . Ah, my friends, what joy, what beauty, what glory awaits us."

He was "an eloquent man . . . (who) spake and taught accurately the things concerning Jesus."

THE 1945 FEBRUARY MEETINGS

Under the leadership of Rev. Dr. Frank H. Caldwell, President of the Louisville Presbyterian Seminary (a seminary jointly under the Presbyterian Churches U. S. A. and U. S.), the February Meetings, held from the 7th to the 15th (February 7 to 15), were most effective. Students and Faculty found Dr. Caldwell a preacher of unusual power and the whole life of the campus and the hundreds of individual lives touched were greatly blessed. The response was earnest and wide spread. Dr. Stringham, for the twenty-third year, gave his wholesome and able leadership to the music of the services.

EASTER ON THE CAMPUS

During the past decade the Easter season has been increasingly observed on the Maryville campus, with the Easter Sunrise Service probably the central event. For a number of years the program below has been followed:

Palm Sunday Vespers—Special music service

Holy Week—Daily chapel readings of His last week and anthems

Noonday student services

Good Friday chapel service around the Seven Words

Easter Sunrise Service in the Amphitheatre in the Woods

Easter Vespers—DuBois' "Seven Last Words" by the choir

RECREATION CENTER

Early in the current semester an organized student recreation center was put into operation in Bartlett Hall. A committee representing various student organizations and the faculty supervise the program through a large number of volunteers and under a carefully worked out plan. The center is open after lunch and dinner each weekday and at certain hours during the afternoon. Bartlett Hall is temporarily available because of the reduced number of men students.

COLLEGE CALENDAR

May 19—Alumni Day

May 20—Baccalaureate Sunday

May 21—Commencement Day

August 28—Fall Semester Opens

December 20—Fall Semester Closes

1946

January 16—Spring Semester Opens

May 22—Commencement Day

There will be no Summer Session in 1945, the wartime demand for it having passed. During June and July there will be on the campus a number of Young People's Conferences under auspices of the Presbyterian Churches in the U. S. A. and the U. S. The annual meetings of the Synod and Synodical Society of Mid-South also are scheduled for the campus but there is uncertainty as to their being held in the usual way because of Government regulations as to large meetings involving travel.

REPORT OF THE 125TH ANNIVERSARY CELEBRATION

The October Alumni Magazine gave in some detail the plans for the 125th anniversary observance on October 22. These plans were carried out as announced and the occasion was pronounced a successful and significant one. At the morning service in the chapel Rev. Dr. Roy E. Vale, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. and a member of the Board of Directors of the College, gave a very impressive address entitled "Stars in the Night." President Lloyd presided and others who participated included Rev. Dr. Charles L. King, Moderator of the General Assembly of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S., President John McSweeney of Tusculum College, Judge S. O. Houston, Chairman of the Board of Directors, and the pastors of the Maryville churches. At the afternoon service Dr. King's address on "Our Debt to the Christian Colleges" was a fitting climax to the day's observance. Judge Houston presided at this service and others who participated included President Lloyd, President B. B. Lavender of Washington College, Rev. Dr. R. Wilbur Cousar, Moderator of the Synod of Appalachia of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S., and Rev. Dr. John A. Gates, Moderator of the Presbytery of Union, in whose bounds the College is located.

The alumni buffet luncheon at noon on the baseball field was a most enjoyable event. The fall coloring was at its height and in the brilliant October sun the campus looked very beautiful. Mrs. Proffitt, the Alumni Association president, spoke a word of welcome to all the alumni and guests and asked Mrs. Lloyd to cut the birthday cake and make the birthday wish for the College.

MISS HERON AND MISS WILKINSON JOIN TWENTY-FIVE-YEAR CLUB

MISS HERON

A year later Miss Heron was appointed to the English faculty of the College where she completed twenty-four years in 1944. She is now Assistant Professor of English. Both her father, who was a Presbyterian minister, and her mother graduated from Maryville College. Miss Heron herself is a graduate of the College of Wooster in Ohio. Before coming to the Maryville faculty she had a very successful experience as a high school principal and teacher. She has done graduate work at Wooster, Columbia, and Duke, and holds a Master's degree from Columbia.

Miss Wilkinson's work in the Preparatory Department continued four years, and has now been in the field of French in the College for almost twenty-two years. She is Assistant Professor of French. Her home has always been near Maryville College where she graduated in the spring before she returned as a teacher. In 1925 she received the Master's degree from Columbia University. In 1930 she was in Europe and studied at the Sorbonne in Paris. In 1935 and 1940 she pursued graduate study at Emory University, Atlanta.

Miss Heron and Miss Wilkinson have made and are daily making a notable contribution to the life and work of Maryville College through their faithfulness and the high standards of their work. At the Faculty Club meeting of November 20, 1944, they were given a hearty welcome into the select group of twenty-five-year folk and also twenty-five roses each.

September 1944 marked two 25th anniversaries in the faculty. In September 1919 Miss Jessie Sloane Heron became Instructor in Latin and Miss Margaret Catharine Wilkinson Instructor in Latin and French, both in the Preparatory Department of Maryville College.

MISS WILKINSON

There are this year twelve men and women on the faculty and staff whose service at Maryville College has passed the twenty-five-year point. They are: Mrs. West 40 years, Miss Green 38, Mr. Walker 35, Mr. "Brownie" Brown 34, Mrs. Wrinkle 29, Dr. Davis 28, Mr. Ralph Irwin 27, Mr. James Irwin 26, Miss Henry 26, Dr. Hunter 26, Miss Heron 25, Miss Wilkinson 25. These figures are to last spring; each will complete another year within the next few months.

WITH THE FACULTY

MISS WINE

Miss Alice Wine, former head of McLain Memorial Hall, died at the home of her sister in Denver, Colorado, February 11, 1945. She had been ill since June, 1944, and had undergone several major operations during her illness. She came to Maryville College in 1937 and was there for seven years.

Mrs. Horace Evans, Assistant to the Head of Baldwin Hall, died in the college hospital, May 18, 1945, as the result of a heart condition which appeared ten days earlier and from which she never recovered. After having taught in the New York public schools for thirty years, she came to Maryville College in 1938; her body was taken back to New York for burial. The friendly and helpful spirit characteristic of both these fine women will cause them to be missed on our campus.

Dr. Ralph S. Collins, Associate Professor of German and French at Maryville College, was released on March 7th to fill an appointment as a Vice Consul in the Foreign Service Auxiliary of the U. S. Government. Mrs. Collins will remain in Maryville and assist with the completion of the semester's work.

Rose Probst Black, wife of Louis A. Black, Director of Maintenance at Maryville College, died on March 15 at their home near the campus. Mrs. Black became active in the community on coming to Maryville and had many friends in the community, the church, the College Faculty, and the student body.

Richard W. Vine, Assistant Professor of Music, and Mrs. Vine have a new son, James Duckstad, born on March 15, 1945.

R. J. Dollenmayer, Associate Professor of Bible now on leave as a Navy Chaplain, and Mrs. Dollenmayer have a son, David Bristol, born on April 5, 1945.

Marguerite Dolch, Instructor in Art, 1939, at Maryville College, has entered the Woman's Army Corps.

DEATHS

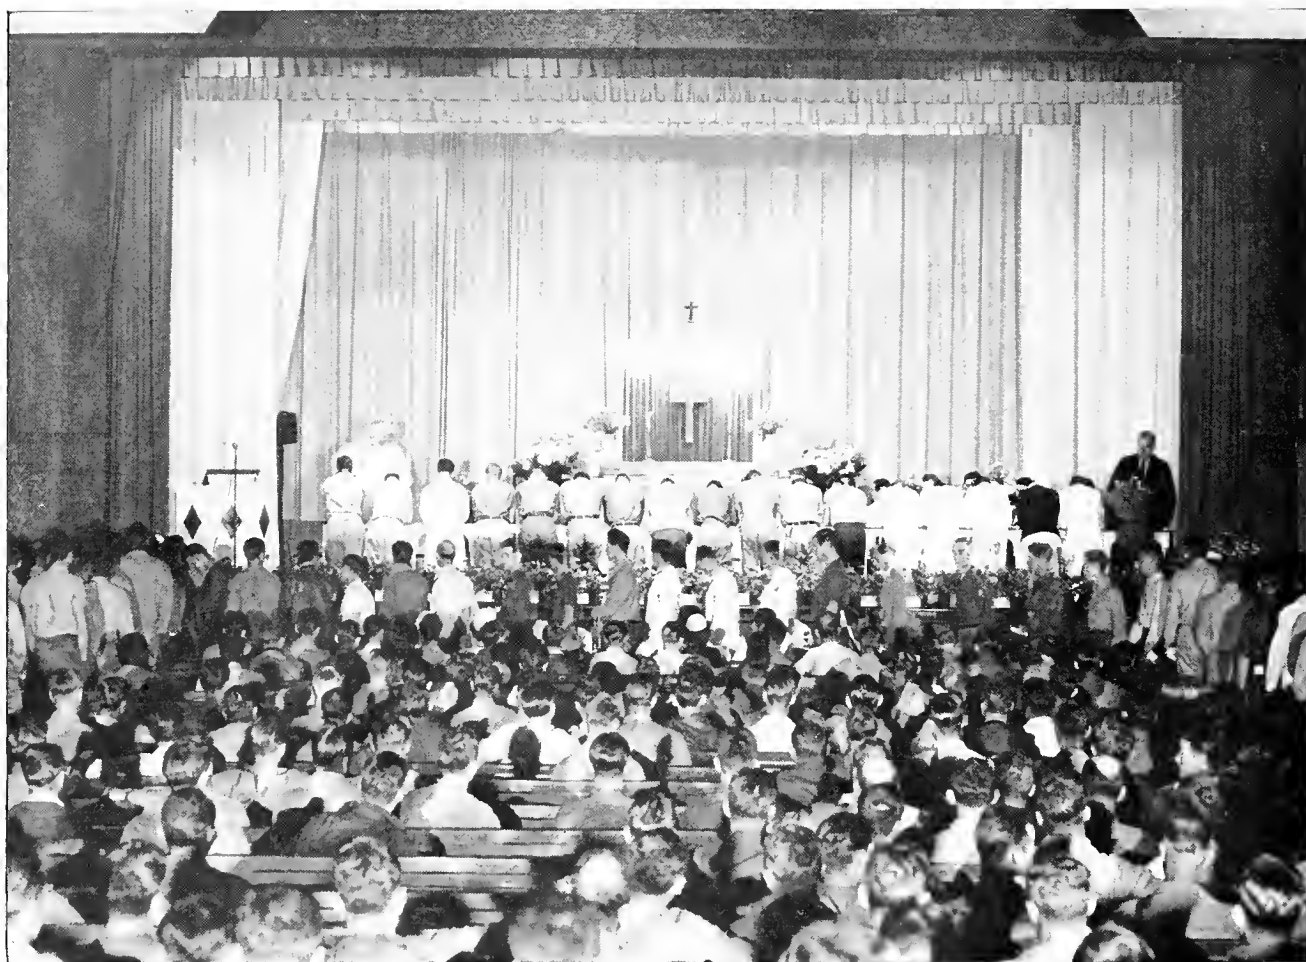

John Weems Mitchell, '04, born in Greene County, Tenn., Sept. 25, 1876, became a professor of mathematics at Texas A & M College in 1907. He had to give up teaching last fall because of ill health and died in Houston, Texas, Jan., 1945.

Hugh C. Souder, '06, dropped dead on the job in his school room, September, 1943, at Milbank, South Dakota.

James Avery Bell, '09, died April, 1945.

Charles Newton Magill, '99, died three days before the liberation of prisoners, of which he was one, at Los Banos internment camp in Manila.

William H. Tilford, '14, who had become well known as a clergyman in Cincinnati, died January 12, 1945.

Chauncey Elbert Conrad, '16, died October 21, 1944, at West Chester, Ohio.

John Burke Scheer, Ex. '31, died at home in New York, March 15, 1945.

Mrs. Robert Gale Lord (Rosemary Mead McCartney, '43) was on her honeymoon, having been married two weeks and about two days when she was struck suddenly by a blood stream infection which took her life in the Doctor's Hospital, Maryville, May 19. Robert was able to get an extension of his leave and to be with her until the end.

Mary C. Chapman, Ex. '47, died in February, 1945.

THE SAMUEL TYNDALE WILSON MEMORIAL BULLETIN

The quota set to be reached by summer on the Samuel Tyndale Wilson Foundation Fund has not yet been attained. Pledges and gifts are needed and alumni are urged to mail the cards sent them in the spring. This is for capital purposes and the Living Endowment is for current purposes, supplementing one another in support and building of the College.

*This does not include the cost of this issue of the Alumni Magazine which as you see is one of the largest and most expensive that we have ever gotten out.

|---|-----------|
| Total received from the Living Endowment | |
| in 1943-1944 | $ 907.75 |
| Total received to date on Living Endowment, | |
| 1944-1945 | $ 784.50 |

You will be interested in the fact that last year represented the highest figure in receipts for Alumni dues in the history of the Association. $1,072.00. The figure for this year, to date, has surpassed last year, $1,195.50, with reason for hopes that it may reach the all time high of $1,200.00. But we want to notice that the increased prices and costs have kept our balance down to what it usually has been. Our treasury is always heaviest in the spring at the time our financial reports are made up because dues are collected at that time. Our balance in the spring could be easily deceptive as it might be regarded as a balance carried over from a previous year, whereas actually it is the operating balance which must carry us twelve months until another dues collecting period.

We have been trying to mail receipts to every one from whom any money is received. These receipts are taken from a numbered and bound series which are subject to audit. If you have failed to get a receipt, please write us as it is our desire for every one to have the assurance that their money is reaching the intended destination. Our books are so kept that they are automatically audited with those of the College Treasurer, with the exception of these receipts which are subject to inspection at any time and will reveal any difference easily. You can help us build the high confidence that we want in your Alumni Office by letting us know if you fail to get your receipt.

You will notice that the Living Endowment receipts for 1943-1944 is $907.75, which is down from something over $1,000.00 from 1942-1943. Also to date this year they are only $784.50, which is still further down from last year. Some of the drop is the fault of the Alumni Office which just has not had the labor required to get out the notices all along and as promptly as they should have been. Some of the drop is also accounted for by the circumstances in which some of our younger alumni are thrown by the war. However the interest of the Class of 1945 warrants our continued faith in the Living Endowment. Out of the seventy-seven members of the Class of 1945 forty-seven made pledges totalling $279.00 annually.

There are two other aspects of the Living Endowment that we are quite proud of: (1) we have always insisted that the pledges were conditional and that there would never be any embarrassment over failure to meet them; several have written in that they could not meet their pledges this year; some have said that they were entering graduate school and could not meet them for three additional years; while still others have not responded from a lack of the time or feeling of the necessity to write; when a pledge is not paid it does not accumulate; one who is forced to skip a year or more may take it up again without any balance to be caught up with unless he wishes to do it voluntarily; the pledges are conditioned upon (a) desire to meet them, (b) ability to meet them; (2) the other thing that we are proud of is the number of alumni who send in the pledges with their first contribution after several months or even years out of college and add themselves to that group who want to show their gratitude in a way which will pass on to others what they have received from hands which have gone before them.

Your Alumni Office will appreciate any information which you can and will send it. It regrets that it cannot render all the services requested as promptly as it would like. Many of your addresses are no good and your cards are in the Address Unknown files. We make every effort to trace them but often find that we do not have sufficient clues to get results. It is the desire of the office to serve you and Alma Mater and to facilitate your service to Alma Mater. Let us hear from you.
